

A NEW GAS ORDINANCE IS PASSED BY COUNCIL; OLD ONE SIDETRACKED

After Two Readings---Rate in New Measure Same as Consumers are Now Paying Per Thousand

GAS COMPANY WILL NOT ACCEPT PROVISIONS

Fight is Now on and Will Probably be Decided by the Court---City Solicitor Directed to Bring Suits for Money Due City According to Examiner Heck's Report.

The City Council passed a gas ordinance at the regular meeting Monday night, but it was not the ordinance that everybody expected to come up for its third reading and final passage. The ordinance that now awaits the signature of the mayor and the acceptance by the Newark Natural Gas and Fuel Company to become a binding contract upon both parties, was an entirely new one, and was passed after a suspension of the rules and reading it the second and third times after its introduction.

It is brief and to the point providing that the gas company shall be allowed to charge a maximum rate of 20 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas, less 10 per cent if paid before the 10th of each month, making the rate 18 cents per thousand net, or the same rate that is being paid at present. There is no provision made in the ordinance for free gas to the city departments and city buildings.

As to the signature of the mayor, it makes no difference what he does in the matter, so far as making effective the provisions of the ordinance, as the gas company today refused to accept it or enter into a contract with the city to furnish gas at the rates stipulated in the instrument and will so notify the council formally by its officers.

And so the fight is on, and the issue is well defined between the gas company and the city. What developments may be looked for is problematical.

Mr. Krick, one of the company's general agents, who has followed the progress of the ordinance through-out its devious course, was present so was Mr. L. F. Carl, manager of the local company, and Attorney J. R. Fitzgibbon their legal representative. On the other side of the hall sat Attorney Roderie Jones. Both attorneys were primed to speak on the subject, Mr. Fitzgibbon to urge the passage of the ordinance that was expected to come up on its third reading, Mr. Jones to oppose it. Both were surprised, or seemed to be, at the turn the affair took when the new measure was introduced and neither made his speech.

Mr. Jones said afterward that there was no use as the ordinance that was passed suited him, while Mr. Fitzgibbon also probably considered it no use, as the vote on the suspension of the rules indicated that the full strength of the council favored the passage of the new ordinance, before remarks were called for.

Mr. Krick was plainly indignant and annoyed at the turn taken by affairs and made no effort to conceal his disgust at the council's action. He went to Clerk McCarthy's desk immediately after the adjournment and was given a copy of the ordinance with its number, which he acknowledged as official notification of the council's action.

"Just say that we decline this ordinance, yes, most respectfully and emphatically decline to accept it, and we will so notify the council without delay. There is nothing else to say; we will surely not act under the provisions of the ordinance," said Mr. Krick to the Advocate reporter.

Mr. Carl said:

"There is no doubt that every member of the council individually was in favor of the passage of the ordinance that had been read twice before, but they did not have the nerve and backbone to vote in accordance with their convictions, and in secret caucus pre-arranged the ordinance which was passed. They did this because they thought it would be popular to oppose the gas company, regardless of the merits of the case, and without a thorough and intelligent investigation of the claims of the company and the city. After the original ordinance had been prepared until it was finally introduced, every concession was granted by the company that had been asked, and the measure was read twice in regular order and we had every good reason to believe that council would pass it."

President Elmer Orr said:

"The Council thought they were doing what the people wanted in shelving the old ordinance and passing the new. Many people have called upon members of the council and telephoned them urging that no increase in rates be allowed the gas company. That is the only reason the action was taken tonight."

After the rules had been suspended and the ordinance read for the second and third time, Mr. Elsner moved its passage and was seconded by Mr. Vogelmeier. The vote was unanimous. The ordinance that was side-tracked provided for a rate of 22 cents with a discount of 2 cents if payable before the tenth of each month, for a period of one year, and for four years after that a rate of 25 cents with a discount of 10 per cent, and also for free gas to the city buildings and departments. Another feature of the meeting was the directing of the Solicitor to bring action to recover the amounts of money found to be due the city from various sources, in accordance with the report of Mr. Will Heck recently submitted.

The following members answered roll call upon President Orr calling the meeting to order, Baker, Irwin, Muentz, Prior, Stare, Elsner, Vogelmeier.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Mayor Ankele submitted his report for February which was received and (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4.)

SUPREME COURT DECIDES SESSION CONSTITUTIONAL

BLOODSHED THREATENED

Zion City, March 7.—The Volta faction has taken to White Cap methods to drive out of Zion the "infidel" dealers in tabooed merchandise, pork, oysters, cigarettes, etc. They are quoting scripture by the ream and threaten bloodshed, if necessary, to clean the city. One of the independents received such notification today and he doesn't think it is any joke. He says he has bought a revolver, "and one of the infidels will shoot the daylight out of some of the righteous if he is molested."

SUPREME COURT DECIDES CASE OF LONG STANDING

A Licking county case was decided by the supreme court of Ohio this morning, which involves a transaction of over 35 years ago, and only one of the active parties is still living.

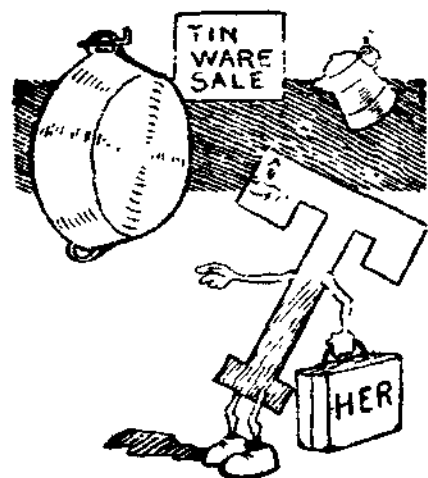

The case came up in the common pleas court about two years ago, Eli Hull being plaintiff, while the executors of the estates of Virgil Wright and Jerome Buckingham were defendants.

Hull sued on a receipt for $3000, with interest at 12 per cent, from August 7, 1873, to date, amounting to $15,000. The receipt was in the nature of a promissory note and purported to have been given to Hull by Wright and Buckingham for money advanced to them by Hull for the purchase of coal lands, to be repaid after they had been reimbursed out of the proceeds of the lands for the purchase case.

About two years ago the case was tried to a jury in common pleas court and a verdict was given for the defendant. The case was prosecuted on error to the circuit court, which tribunal reversed the circuit court and remanded the case for trial to the common pleas court. The executors, H. O. Norris, E. C. and F. S. Wright, then carried the case to the supreme court, where it was argued orally about five weeks ago by Col. C. H. Kibler and B. F. McDonold, representing Hull, and Carl Norpell, of Norpell, Norpell & Martin, and Roderie Jones of Jones & Jones, for the executors.

The supreme court Tuesday morning reversed the circuit court and decided in favor of the Buckingham and Wright estates.

TROOPS ARE RUSHED TO BORDER LINE AND ITALY AND AUSTRIA MAY CLASH

According to cable dispatches from London, Italy and Austria are hurrying troops to the border and a clash which will stir European international conditions is expected. Whether or not Germany will be brought into the tangle is a question. Popular feeling in Italy has been stirred by the decision of Emperor William and Emperor Franz Joseph not to visit King Victor Emanuel during the celebration of Italy's unification jubilee. The rushing of troops to the border is occasioned by the decision of Italy to regain possession of Trieste on the coast and Trent in Tyrol, both of which are now parts of Austria.

UNITED STATES BEGINS MOBILIZING OF TROOPS ON MEXICAN FRONTIER

Washington, March 7.—A great military and naval demonstration involving 20,000 troops and four cruisers, was ordered today by the United States to take place at once on the Mexican frontier. Officials refuse to discuss the possibility of armed interference with the Mexican rebellion. A combined land and water attack on Galveston is announced as a feature of the war maneuvers. The dispatch of one-quarter of the entire army is not accepted here as a practice maneuver. General Wood, chief of staff, officially announced today that the maneuvers were being held in Texas because of wild appeals for protection from Americans doing reclamation work in the Imperial valley California who say they are at the mercy of Mexican brigands.

Secretary of War Dickenson today admitted that the Eleventh cavalry and Seventh infantry from Georgia were ordered to Texas with the Fort Meyer battery. The immediate reason given here for the mobilization of troops is the inability of the Mexican generals to protect the Colorado river dam. It is not doubted here that the danger to American interests in Mexico has caused Wall street to put on the stocks to help Diaz in his efforts to crush the rebellion.

Four armored cruisers have been ordered to the Texas coast to co-operate with the troops. Over 9,000 troops are already moving.

The American interests in Mexico are enormous and are almost entirely sustained by concessions from the Diaz government. In all of the long year effort of the insurgents to overthrow Diaz the state department has made no secret of rendering Diaz every possible aid for the preservation of the republic. HUGH T. NICHOLS

INDUCTED INTO OFFICE OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR OF OHIO.

New Presiding Officer of Senate Named Members of Necessity of Action.

Columbus, March 7.—Hugh T. Nichols of Clermont was formally inducted into the office of lieutenant governor yesterday, the ceremony taking place in the senate chamber in the presence of the members of the upper branch of the general assembly and a number of state officials and friends. Governor Harmon, to whom he owes his elevation, was not present.

The new presiding officer was escorted to the rostrum by a committee of senators—Reynolds of Cuyahoga, Yount of Darke, Deacon of Champaign and Crawford of Carroll. He was received there by President Pro Tempore William

HUGH NICHOLS

Green and Judge Maurice J. Donahue of the supreme court. The oath being administered by this judicial officer, the lieutenant governor was introduced formally by Senator Green.

Upon assuming the gavel Mr. Nichols gently reminded the senators of the flight of time and the necessity for action upon necessary legislation. Among other things he said:

"In assuming the duties of the office of president of the senate, I would have you believe that I am actuated by a sincere desire to faithfully discharge the functions of the position as set forth in the constitution of Ohio and the rules of this body."

"It shall be my constant aim to co-operate with you, senators, in giving our beloved state the most loyal service, and I promise you that so far as in me lies I shall seek to promote the common good and general welfare."

"Senators, if we are to estimate the length of the present session by the average length of the preceding ones, you have already entered the last half of your journey. If we may speak of it as such, something in the way of beneficent legislation has already been accomplished."

"I refer especially to the ratification of the amendment to the federal constitution, making certain the right of the national government to levy an income tax, and I also refer to the law providing for a separate and nonpartisan ballot for the election of all judicial officers."

"I know of nothing so transcendently important as the surety that we will have an independent, fearless and conspicuously able judiciary and I believe the measure to which I have just alluded will produce a better, cleaner and more efficient judiciary; and yet, if the just expectations of the people are to be fairly realized, much remains to be done. The time is short, and it behooves us to diligently busy ourselves in enacting into law the sovereign will of the people as declared only last November."

New York, March 7.—Search for the securities stolen from Varen Bancroft has been spread to ever large city in the country, without a clue resulting. One way the thieves might realize on the loot would be to pledge the securities for a loan from some bank in another town. They might remain there for some time without the bank knowing they were stolen.

INDICTED PROMOTERS AT DETROIT

Federal Grand Jury Alleges Conspiracy to Defraud Government

LANDS WORTH MILLIONS

And Rich in Deposits of Alaskan Coals, and Minerals Are at Stake.

Detroit, Mich., March 7.—The federal grand jury which has been investigating the Michigan-Alaska Development Company last night handed down indictments against seven of the promoters of the company, charging them with being the active workers in a conspiracy to defraud the United States of $8,000 acres of coal lands.

The men indicted are Wilbur W. McAlpine, McCurdy C. Lebeau, Arthur L. Holmes, Albert H. Roehm, George W. Rose and Frank D. Andrus, all of Detroit, and John M. Bushnell of Detroit.

The indictment estimates the value of the lands at $50,000,000. W. W. McAlpine, who had the power of attorney from 300 other individuals to file claims for them, estimates the value of the lands at between $150,000,000 and $300,000,000.

The contention of the government is that the defendants conspired to induce between 200 and 300 individuals to become stockholders in the Michigan-Alaska Company "by making fraudulent and fictitious locations of certain Alaskan coal lands," thereby violating the land entry laws of 1910, which made it illegal for more than four persons to form a company for locating Alaska coal lands and taking out patents on more than 640 acres.

It is alleged that the several stockholders or coal land claimants were led to believe that they were locating the lands for their exclusive use, "but in truth and in fact for the use and benefit of the seven defendants and the Michigan-Alaska Development Company."

The Michigan-Alaska Development Company was organized under the laws of Arizona. W. W. McAlpine is the president. The coal lands involved are situated at Juneau, Alaska, and several contiguous tracts near Homer, upon the western end of the Kenai Peninsula bordering upon Cook inlet. The claims are said to have been located by about 200 Detroit and Michigan residents and a hundred other claimants from New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Seattle and western points.

It is declared by the defendants that strictly individual entry of the lands has been made and that the Michigan-Alaska Company was organized to better protect their title and develop their lands.

They deny stock was to be sold and they insist the corporation was not formed for the exploitation of the coal lands in the general market. In preparing the case, United States District Attorney Frank Watson of Detroit, was assisted by B. D. Townsend, assistant to the attorney general; A. Christensen, special government agent in charge of the case, and Special Agents F. C. Robb, H. S. Spillers and Frank Griffith, all from Washington. C. B. Walker, registrar of Juneau, was an important witness. District Attorney Watson announced that he would prepare for an early trial of the defendants.

The penalty for conviction on a charge of conspiracy against the government of this nature is two years' imprisonment or a fine of not more than $10,000.

The investigation was begun about four years ago, while the present secretary of the interior, Mr. Ballinger, was commissioner of the general land office. It was by Mr. Ballinger's orders that field service agents of the land office started the probe.

DEFENSE SELECTS MARRIED JURORS

Albany, N. Y., March 7.—A jury of married men with children, is the aim of the defense in the Heiber murder case here. The lawyers on that side use every effort to discard the single men drawn for jury service, and use a peremptory challenge as a final means.

Mrs. Heiber watched the selection of a jury, but made no effort to influence her attorneys. It is not known whether or not she will take the stand in her own defense.

For the past several days we have been having all kinds of weather. In fact to suit all kinds of people, and since Monday the wizard of the weather has made a marked transformation in climatic conditions here. From fair and slightly warmer weather Monday evening, it later turned into rain and a drizzle of snow. About midnight the mercury began to fall and shortly after a mild squaw winter set in. Tuesday morning it had every appearance of being a clear day and the whole eastern sky was illuminated by the rising sun. Shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday morning it began snowing and notwithstanding the dampness of the ground it began gradually whitening. Under the misty and murky skies Tuesday afternoon the snow is gradually disappearing and the indications are that it will soon have melted away.

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

In a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

The novelty material for the early spring suiting is satin and to the lovers of black it will be glad news to hear that black satin is to be the most modish thing the shops will offer. Word comes from the large fashion centers that this attractive material will be used for the two-piece suit, the regular jacket suit and for full length coats.

The Newark stores are showing many beautiful models but none is more attractive than one seen this morning. The really attractive part of this particular model is the extreme simplicity. The skirt is of the narrow trend and without trimming of any kind. The jacket is of the popular short fashion made with the semi-fitted back somewhat after the style of a man's coat. The only finish on the jacket is a white cord used for a filling in the neck and the lining is of a greenish gray satin. The sleeves are the regular coat sleeve finished with a large satin covered button, the same being used for the fastening.

The richness of the material, together with the simple lines, make a stunning outfit.

Heart and Home Talks

Simple Talks on Health.

Breathing Life.

LIFE is looked upon by most of us as rather valuable. We take great pains to preserve it. We do all we can to prevent accidents. If we fall sick, we make a valiant fight, aided by physicians and friends, to maintain our hold on life. In fact, we do all the big, important things to preserve life, and yet all the time, some little everyday things that we neglect because they seem trifling, are really more important and would do more for us in preserving life than all the elaborate efforts we make.

There isn't a minute of the day when we do not breathe. In fact, if we didn't breathe, the game would be up for us. Breath is life, as has been truly said. But how many of us give much thought to this breath, the manner of taking it, the kind of air we draw in. Yet this is more important than all the precautions we take to avoid accidents or contagion, or to promote health. For it is an every-minute matter, and it affects every part of our body.

People think of breathing as important to the lungs chiefly. But it is important to every part of the body. The air goes into the lungs, it is true, and if it doesn't sweep every nook and corner of them clean, they are apt to get diseased. But it is in the lungs that it purifies the blood, the oxygen of the air passing through the very thin tissues of the blood-vessels in the lungs and entering, by nature's chemistry, into the blood helping it to throw off its carbonic acid gas, making it red and pure and ready for its journey through the body, carrying oxygen and nourishment into every part. If the impurities are not thrown off, if the oxygen is not taken in, it still goes on its course, but not fitted for its work. Impurities are lodged here and there breeding disease. The oxygen that is needed for certain work is not obtainable, this work is not done properly, and vitality is lowered.

The person whose blood is properly oxygenated has a good circulation, he is warm-blooded, he doesn't take cold easily. Correct breathing helps protect him against such ailments.

Food needs to be oxygenated in order to digest properly. The person who breathes correctly helps along his digestion, and thus helps ward off those terrible ills—indigestion and insufficient nourishment.

All parts of the body are inextricably bound together, that you can't neglect one part without injuring others. The breath you draw is veritably the breath of life, or the breath of death. When you take the deep, full breath of pure air that sends the blood laden with oxygen coursing through your body, you are breathing life. When you take a poor, weak, little breath that scarcely reaches below your collar bone and which sends your blood sluggishly on its way laden with impurities, you are breathing death.

Breathing seems such a commonplace matter that we give it too scant attention. If we would wake up to its importance and realize that we breathe life when we breathe correctly, our health would come up to a much higher standard.

Raisin Bread. One and one-half pints of milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half of a cake of compressed yeast, two cups of seeded raisins, whole-wheat flour sufficient to make a soft dough. Scald the milk, pour it over the salt and sugar; when lukewarm add the yeast dissolved in a little warm water. Stir in flour to make a drop batter, beat hard for five minutes and set in a warm place to rise. When light and spongy add the raisins, more flour to make a soft dough, turn out on the board and knead until very smooth. Return to the bowl until light, mold into two loaves, and when they have doubled in size bake in a moderate oven. Raisin, date and other fruit breads need very slow baking and a loaf of the above size should be in the oven for at least an hour and a quarter. It is best therefore, to cover the pans the first half of the period and to keep a pan of water in the oven.

Jam Roly Poly. Make a rich biscuit crust and roll out. Spread with a thick layer of jam, roll like a jelly roll, lay on a greased plate or pan and steam for forty minutes, then place in the oven long enough to dry off. Serve with either a hard or soft sauce.

GRANVILLE

Granville, March 7.—Now is a good time to make preparations for the spring cleaning in the yards of Granville. If every citizen in the town would take an interest in the matter, the town would be much better for it. There ought to be no such a thing as one part of the village being better than the other. It is possible for the owners of small homes to keep the yards clean, the grass cut and the flowers blooming as it is for the rich with their large estates. It is just as easy to keep the small building painted as it is to allow them to fall in disrepair. Cultivate a pride in your own door yard, even if it is only a few feet, and see the fine effect it will have.

Miss Elinor Colby of Dayton is the guest of Miss Mary McKibben.

Already there is that something in the atmosphere of Granville that indicates that Masons of the place are preparing for something unusual. High all know is the coming centennial of Center Star Lodge No. 11, which is to be celebrated early in the coming year. It is expected that the celebration will be a big event.

Mrs. A. D. Cole of Columbus was ill by the illness of her father, the venerable Mr. Downer, who has been suffering with a severe attack of grip. He, however, is much improved at this time.

Miss Marion Rose spent Tuesday in Columbus.

Miss Nellie Denman of Newark, Monday with friends in the village.

Henry Colby of Dayton, spent Sunday in Granville, calling on old friends and his Signa Chi friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ballinger of Terre Haute, Ind., who have been visiting relatives and friends here during the last several days, returned home Tuesday.

Miss Carrie Evans of Newark spent several days with her friend, Miss Florence Greenson of Cleveland.

Mr. Garwood has moved his family to the house on Granville street, recently vacated by Otto Jones.

The regular monthly meeting of the town Council will be held this evening, and as there will be considerable business of importance to be disposed of it is desired that all the members be present.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Oberlander have moved to Bucyrus, where they expect to make their future home.

Several from here attended the funeral of Thomas Alexander in Newark.

The Daughters of the American Revolution enjoyed a Washington party on Friday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. L. A. Austin. All were dressed in Martha Washington costume, except Miss Norris, who represented "George," and had as his bride

You Will Be Proud of the Appearance of your Stove

Black Silk Stove Polish

It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine. Don't imagine all brands of stove polish are alike. Black Silk is different. It's so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison. It's in a class all by itself.

It makes a brilliant, glossy shine that anneals to the iron—doesn't rub or dust off. Give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove—your cook stove or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I have ever used. People say, 'where did you get your new stove, and I tell them it's Black Silk Stove Polish that makes it look like new.'"

"I will not use any other kind when I can get Black Silk Stove Polish. It makes stoves look nice and stay nice longer than any other polish."

"Black Silk Stove Polish is by far the best I ever used. I have tried many different kinds but find none as good."

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I ever used. Several parties in this neighborhood are anxious to get some of your polish since they saw my stove after using it."

Ask your hardware and stove dealer for Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand. Costs you no more than the ordinary kind so why not have the best?

NOTES FROM THE LOAN.

Every visitor to the Loan Exhibit will notice the nice selection of pewter, coffee urn, tea-pots, plates and candlesticks, a large serving dish, spoons, etc.

Pewter is an alloy of tin and lead, or tin, lead and zinc. Most pewter is molded, but some are hammered into shape very much like brass vessels.

In Colonial times pewter plate was imported from England, the tin which entered so largely into its composition being supplied by the famous mines of Cornwall.

China dishes and tea sets of silver in time took the place of pewter.

If you are not familiar with a ware called Lustre, ask to be shown samples of it, for collectors of old china love it. It is of four varieties: gold, silver, copper and pink. Gold lustre is rare, but silver and copper are often found. There are plain lustres, banded lustres, powdered lustres, flowered ones and others not classified. Pitchers are the most common of the copper lustre.

Lustre is earthenware dipped in a metallic "slip" or wash and this was for a long time a secret, and was thought to be a lost art.

"Fine pieces of lustre," to quote a New York dealer, "are hard to find. English Lowestoft was made in the English town of that name. The decoration usually consists of elaborate borders in sprigs and wreaths of small flowers, united by lines and dots in Indian red and black. In some of the pieces a pretty rose is used which recalls the story that one of the early decorators was named Rose and used that flower for his decoration."

Waffordshire, England, was the location of many potteries, from there comes Wedgwood, so named for the owner of the pottery. Also New Hall, New Castle, Clews, etc. Americans in the early days would have drawings made of scenes or places of interest in this country and send them to these English potteries to be used as a decoration on tableware. Famous among these is the Pittsfield (Conn.) plate.

Willowware is well known. It was made in 1750 and has been made ever since. The onion-blue is too well known for comment.

There are several fine examples of Satsuma in the loan. It is a Japanese ware, the surface well covered and much gold.

Mirror knobs were imported in early Colonial days and later made in this country. They are large discs which form heads to long screws and were used to support a mirror. There is a pair at the loan.

We have made many improvements in our manner of living since the days of our forefathers, but as yet we have found no satisfactory substitute for freight or candlelight. A candlestick of pewter, brass, or silver, with snuffers and tray near at hand is a charming sight, so candlestick collecting is a pleasing hobby and every sort is shown at the loan from the lard lamp, through the various styles of candlesticks to the charming "grandelos."

Grandelos were "parlor mantle" ornaments and when placed in front of a mantle mirror, the glittering prisms were reflected and the effect was quite dazzling. They are usually set in bases of marble and figures in freight uphold the candle stems. The base figures vary while some are flowers only. Grandelos were imported from France. "Meet me at the loan."

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Loaf

“ONCE upon a time a long, long time ago in a German city there was a great famine. The poor people could get little to eat, and there was much suffering among them.”

This is the way daddy began his bedtime story for Jack and Evelyn, for the children had asked him for a story about “long ago.”

“In this city there lived a baker who was rich and a kind, good hearted man. It grieved him to see the poor people suffer, and he did what he could to help them. He took a big basket and in it he placed twenty loaves of bread. Then he called together one child from each of twenty poor families and said to them:

“Each of you is to take one of these loaves of bread and give it to your parents. Return tomorrow and you shall have another loaf of bread, and I shall give you each a loaf each day until better times come.”

“The children all but one gathered eagerly about the basket and quarreled, for each one wanted to have the biggest loaf. At last they went away with their loaves without even having thanked the good baker for his kindness. I said all but one. While the others were quarreling one little girl stood to one side waiting until they should get their loaves before she took hers. The one loaf that was left was the smallest of them all, but the little girl thanked the baker and kissed his hand before she took the bread home to her parents.”

“The next day the children came again and quarreled about the loaves as on the day before. Again the same little girl got the smallest loaf, and again she thanked the baker. When she got home with the loaf, however, there was a great surprise for her and her poor mother, for when the loaf was cut open out rolled twenty bright, new, shiny pieces of silver money.”

“Then the poor mother said:

“Run back to the baker and tell him that there has been some mistake. Tell him I think the money got into the bread by accident, and I do not want him to think that you or any other of the poor children would keep money which did not belong to her.” But the baker said:

“No, my child, there has been no mistake. The first day when I gave out the bread I noticed you standing modestly and quietly while the other children were disputing as to who should get the biggest loaf. So I decided to put the money into the smallest loaf. I felt sure that you would get it. Run home now and tell your mother that I am glad to give the money to a woman who has brought up her child as well as she has brought you up. As for you, I hope that you will always remain a peaceable, grateful person.”

This Home-Made Cough Syrup will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn’t buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents’ worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiac and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c. at F. D. Hall’s.

A Fierce Night Alarm
is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it arouses Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O. (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. “Sometimes in severe attacks,” he wrote, “we were afraid they would die, but since we proved that a certain remedy Dr. King’s New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds, or any throat or lung trouble.” So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever, la grippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages fly before it. 50c. and $1. Trial bottle free. Sold by F. D. Hall.

OCEAN LINERS WILL TRAVERSE GREAT LAKES IF TOWNSEND PLAN CARRIES.

Types of VESSELS using the CANAL

Senator-elect Townsend, of Michigan, has introduced a resolution in Congress calling upon President Taft to enter into negotiations with the Canadian government with the end in view of increasing the size of the Welland canal so that ocean steamships can get through and travel the Great Lakes. Congressman Townsend is working with the President in this undertaking, the chief executive believing that the time is opportune for such a project. He believes that direct navigation between the inland seas and the Atlantic coast would be a great boon to agriculture and manufacturing in both this country and the Dominion. While no detailed plans have been made, it is estimated the cost of the project would be in the millions.

MEETING FOR BOYS SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The boys' meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association Sunday was the best that this winter, full of interest, and very helpful to every boy who was in attendance.

Rev. Mr. Bennett had for his address "Crucifixion and Character," and his talk was very instructive, showing the boys the very best kind of character to have and in order to have a character that everyone will be proud of, each boy must live a life that is full of virtue and to be striving each day to live a life that will be an example to the rest of the boys, so that they might see that they are full of Christian manliness.

The motion pictures Sunday were the best ever and the boys all enjoyed them very much. One of them, Paul Davis, is doing good work and has mastered the picture machine and the results are great, each picture being very clear and very plain.

Prof. Foot's male quartet furnished some very fine music, which was appreciated very much by all those in attendance.

Boys, if you want a seat you will have to be on hand early, as the old hall is being crowded at every meeting. At Sunday's meeting there were over 400 boys in attendance, every seat on the lower floor being taken. Be sure and come out next Sunday afternoon, as there will be something special doing.

AMUSEMENTS

Last Night's Play.

The initial performance of the Cutter Stock company in this city was given at the Auditorium theatre Monday evening and pleased a large audience. The company is an exceptionally clever one and nicely balanced all the way through, and judging from the enthusiasm with which their efforts were greeted last evening, they will be added to the list of favorites of the Newark patrons of repertoire.

The play was an old one, taken from the novel and given under the same name, "Thorns and Orange Blossoms." The play tells an interesting little story and contains some good lines. It was given by the Cutter company with its full worth and effect obtained in every instance. Miss Blanche White appears in the leading roles throughout the week, and in "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" she proved herself a capable actress, with a clever insight to her character. Miss White has a charming stage presence and a pleasing speaking voice.

Walter Wilson plays opposite Miss White and exhausted every possibility of the role last night. Frederick Lyle is excellent in heavy, while Robert C. Payton did most pleasing character work. Bernard Riggs carried the comedy well and was ably assisted by Miss Etta DeVeto, who is most efficient in her part.

Announcement is made by the company that this evening's bill will be "The Cowboy Sheriff," in which are some good characters, with the company appearing at their best.

As Told in the Hills.

One of the best bits of negro comedy acting of the season will be seen in "As Told in the Hills," which will play at the Auditorium theatre for one performance, March 18. The play is regarded as the strongest melodrama produced this season and one that has met with deserved success from its first performance.

The Man on the Box.

On March 17 the Auditorium theatre will have as an attraction Harold McGrath's comedy, "The Man on the Box," with John Meehan in the part of the young Lieutenant who, to play a practical joke on his sister, assumes the role of a coachman, kisses the wrong girl, lands in the police court, is extricated from this unpleasant situation to be made a coachman in reality, and whose identity is finally discovered after a series of most amusing adventures. It is all done for "love's sweet sake," however, and as presented in dramatic form, the story furnishes a most delightful evening's entertainment.

The Climax.

Now that "The Climax," which comes to the Auditorium for the second time on an early date, has developed into one of the genuine dramatic sensations of last season, the arrangers as well as managers, are beginning to inquire into the identity of Edward Locke, the author. As a matter of fact, Locke has been an actor, but among his friends he is referred to as the "glassblower playwright," for, awaiting his opportunity, he took up the trade of glassblowing. His father is a Pittsburgh glass manufacturer and a man of means. He desired his son to grow up in the glass manufacturing business, but the young man had ambitions in other directions and moved to New York.

Orpheum Theatre.

At the Arcade theatre this week, Gus Sun's Peerless Minstrels, a refined entertainment for ladies and children, full of good music, good singing and comedy, carrying their own scenery. Some of the features are the Majestic Trio, and Gus Sun's Sunny Songsters. Orpheumscope has two films.

Cocaine which dulls the nerves never yet cured Nasal Catarrh. The heavy feeling in the forehead, the stuffed up sensation and the watery discharge from eyes and nose, along with all the other miseries attending the disease, are put to rest by Ely's Cream Balm. Smell and taste are restored, breathing is made normal. Until you try this remedy, you can form no idea of the good it will do you. Is applied directly to the sore spot. All druggists sell. Mailed by Ely Bros., 35 Warren Street, New York.
